

Our vision for Rural Roots Market is to contribute to the food security for this inland rural community. The right to food is a fundamental human right.

Our goals:

- To offer local growers, makers and bakers the opportunity to sell their products to a new consumer market in the New Ross area;
- To create an educational opportunity around food security;
- To create a fresh market experience that will draw new people to the New Ross area, enhance the farm food experience and act as an incubator for local businesses.

Rural Roots Market is organized by the Three Marketeers, three New Ross women coming together to create this market experience. The Market is a collaborative effort among Ross Farm Museum, the New Ross Food Bulk Buying Club and the Three Marketeers.

To reach the Three Marketeers call 1-902-599-1207 or email info@ruralrootsmarket.ca.